Beth El MEGILLAH

From Rabbi Krauss

The year 5785 will soon be history. The high Holidays, Rosh Hashanah and Yom Kippur are a time of prayer and reflection. We turn to Almighty G-d to grant us and our dear ones a year of life and good health. We pray for peace and well being everywhere. We pray that the year 5786 will be better than 5785. We commit ourselves to be kinder, compassionate and charitable. In short, to be better human beings.

What sort of year was 5785? Like all years it was full of Lights and Shadows – good and evil. As Jews, as Americans our focus turns to Israel. Israel was engaged in wars with Hamas in Gaza, Hezbollah in Lebanon, with Iran, with Houthis in Yemen and military attacks on Syria.

Fervently we pray that 5786 will see an end to all of Israel's need to engage in military self defense. May this New Year see an increase in countries of the Abrahamic Accord and for peace everywhere.

May you all be inscribed and sealed for a Good New Year.

Rabbi Aaron Krauss

HAZZAN NOTES

We approach 5786 with a lot of confusion and insecurity about Israel, the Jewish world, and perhaps the world as a whole. The Gaza war has been continuing for an unbelievable amount of time. The welfare of the remaining hostages is still unclear. Antisemitism is on the rise. The war in Ukraine has also gone on much too long.

To quote an old saying – “When the going gets tough, we get going!” That's what has to happen in this New Jewish Year. We don't give up, we renew. We gather our strength and forge ahead with POSITIVE ATTITUDES. We keep our faith in HaShem and keep our sights ahead for a good year – A SHANA TOVA .

United States Senate

Dear Ms. Borisch,

Thank you for taking the time to write to me about the hostages being held by Hamas in Gaza. I rely on the input of engaged New Jerseyans like you when making decisions, and I appreciate you sharing your thoughts.

During the horrific October 7, 2023, attacks by Hamas on Israel, over 1200 people were killed and 250 people were taken hostage, including American citizens. We have heard from those who have been released about the treatment of hostages while captured. Many were tortured, sexually assaulted, or deprived of food, water, and light. I remain deeply troubled that over a year later, at least 50 hostages remain in Gaza. We have a moral imperative to do everything we can to secure their immediate release, and we must continue to work every day to bring home Itay Chen and Omer Neutra, two Americans who were killed on October 7 and whose bodies were taken hostage by this terror organization.

That is why I joined 15 of my Senate colleagues in introducing a bipartisan resolution, S.Res.227, condemning Hamas for its premeditated, coordinated, and brutal terrorist attacks on October 7 and demanding that Hamas immediately release all remaining hostages and return them to safety.

Please know that I share very hurt and strong feelings about the conflict and urgent desires to end this war, which has been a nightmare for so many Israelis and Palestinians. To that end, I have continued to visit the region, meeting with Israeli and Palestinian leaders as well as leaders from neighboring Arab nations, in order to deepen the coalition and commitment towards achieving a long-term peace in the region.

As we work toward a lasting ceasefire, it is vital that humanitarian resources reach the hostages that remain alive in Gaza. The humanitarian crisis in Gaza is a catastrophe, and the international community must not forget these individuals when advocating for streamlined access to food, clean water, fuel, and medical support. That is why, as a member of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee, I am focused on efforts to increase the levels, consistency, and safety of life-saving humanitarian aid deliveries to all those in need, including those who remain held by Hamas.

Again, thank you for writing to me. I am honored to represent you in the United States Senate, and I value what I hear from New Jerseyans about the issues our state and nation face. Please continue to keep in touch with your thoughts and concerns. For more information on my work in New Jersey and in Washington, please visit my website at booker.senate.gov.

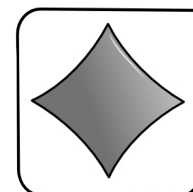

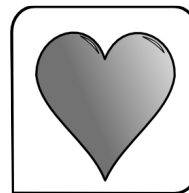

Sincerely,

Humanitarian Aid: The complex and tragic toll of the Hamas War

Civilians in Gaza are suffering – caught in the middle of a brutal war – with hundreds of thousands displaced, infrastructure decimated and widespread food insecurity. Israel recently announced a military pause in Gaza to allow for an expanded distribution of humanitarian aid for up to 10 hours daily. President Trump also announced a new U.S.-European partnership to open unguarded food distribution centers inside Gaza, marking a notable expansion of direct relief efforts. Neighboring partners – including Jordan, Egypt and the UAE – have joined airdrop missions, delivering critical food supplies.

While much of the world holds Israel responsible for alleviating Gaza's crisis, it is important to remember that it was Hamas that invaded Israel on Oct. 7, killing more than 1,200 and dragging hostages into Gaza, sparking this horrific war.

As stated by its own leaders, Hamas is willing to sacrifice its people to destroy the Jewish state. While aid has been delivered on multiple occasions since the war began, Hamas and criminal gangs in Gaza have been known to steal aid, hoard fuel and execute civilians who challenge their control. Hamas continues to reject ceasefire proposals – including the most recent offer brokered by the U.S. and its partners, refuses to release Israeli hostages and demands to remain in power at the expense of its own citizens.

Getting aid into Gaza is not just an Israeli problem. Egypt controls a key border crossing that it has largely kept shut – and the country built a massive wall in early 2024 to protect its border with Gaza. The United Nations has left hundreds of aid trucks undelivered inside Gaza claiming security risks. The vast majority of Arab countries have not directly contributed to relief efforts in Gaza. Meanwhile, Israel while facing a multi-front war with Iranian terrorist proxies – including Hezbollah and the Houthis – has been expected to fight Hamas, oversee all aid into Gaza and minimize civilian casualties all at the same time.

The suffering in Gaza is heartbreaking, Israel has taken extensive measures to prevent humanitarian collapse at its own risk, while fighting a terror group that embeds itself among civilians and refuses to surrender. Israel has expanded humanitarian corridors, opened new entry points and coordinated with the U.S. and other partners to facilitate relief. In recent months, the Israel-U.S.-backed Gaza Humanitarian Foundation (GHF) has delivered nearly 100 million meals, feeding up to two million Gazans a day while bypassing Hamas control. Israel also has facilitated entry of 94,000 aid trucks carrying more than 1.8 million tons of food, fuel and medical supplies. The Israeli Defense Forces recently airdropped Israeli aid into Gaza for the first time.

Prime Minister Netanyahu and other officials have emphasized that dismantling Iran-backed Hamas must go hand-in-hand with avoiding a humanitarian collapse. John Spencer, chair of urban warfare studies at West Point: "I have seen restraint by the IDF in Gaza, humanitarian aid and deliberate compliance with legal standards, often at tactical cost." Providing aid to a civilian population on the other side in a war is virtually unprecedented. Despite these extraordinary efforts, headlines continue to portray Israel as deliberately starving Gaza.

Deflection and Misinformation Prolong the Crisis

The humanitarian crisis in Gaza is real and horrifying, with shortages of food, medical supplies and drinkable water fueling immense civilian suffering. Images and reports of devastation have shocked the world. But as former IDF international spokesperson and current senior fellow at the Foundation for Defense of Democracies, Jonathan Conricus, explained, this crisis is not merely a byproduct of war – it is rooted in Hamas's deliberate strategy of leveraging human suffering to pressure Israel politically and diplomatically. Hamas has rejected ceasefires, hoarded aid and uses civilians as shields, all while continuously vowing to annihilate Israel and refusing to release Israeli hostages.

Hamas also is weaponizing images and media coverage to amplify outrage. While many of the images are authentic, some widely circulated photos have been proven misleading or misused. One recent viral image of an emaciated child actually depicted a five year old boy evacuated with Israel's help on June 12 to Italy for treatment of a genetic illness unrelated to the war.

Another viral image, according to an investigative reporter, featured by multiple media outlets and shared repeatedly on social media appears to be of a boy with cerebral palsy requiring specialized medical care since birth. As tragic as these children's stories are, Hamas's use of their images to elicit global outrage only confirms their lack of respect for the lives of its own citizens and willingness to do anything to retain control of Gaza at all costs.

False narratives inflame outrage, fuel attacks against Jews and harden public opinion against Israel around the world – exactly as Hamas intends. The ecosystem of misinformation – from viral "citizen journalists" to AI deepfakes – makes truth harder to discern. Combatting misinformation requires skepticism, reverse image searches and following analysts who report from verified sources.

Debunking the 'Genocide' Accusation: 'Psychological warfare'

The most explosive charge leveled against Israel is genocide – a term that evokes the Holocaust – and that is no accident. Hamas and its advocates deliberately use this framing to falsely cast Israel as a uniquely evil state deserving annihilation.

The facts tell a different story. Genocide, under international law, requires the intent to destroy an entire group. Israel's actions demonstrate the opposite upon closer inspection: while waging war against a genocidal terrorist organization – Hamas – has facilitated humanitarian aid, issued evacuation warnings before strikes and taken unprecedented steps to minimize civilian harm.

Genocides are marked by catastrophic population loss. The Nazi Holocaust of 6 million Jews, the Hutu genocide of 600,000 Tutsis in only 100 days in Rwanda and the more than 1 million Armenians massacred by the Ottoman Turks. At least 60% of the population was murdered in these actual genocides. Even if Hamas's inflated casualty figures are accepted, less than 3% of Gazans have died, and a large portion were Hamas militants.

Gaza War compared to actual genocides

Reports from NGOs and independent military experts confirm that Israel's casualty ratios – while devastating in human terms – remain significantly lower than comparable conflicts. The reality is not a genocide. This ongoing conflict is an ugly, asymmetrical war against a terrorist group that pledges to repeat Oct. 7 “again and again” while hiding behind its own people. Hamas uses hospitals, schools, and mosques as weapons depots, ensuring any Israeli response risks civilian casualties. As former U.S. Sec. of State Antony Blinken warned, international outrage aimed solely at Israel rewards Hamas for its intransigence, prolonging both the war and civilian suffering.

Political psychologist Dr. Irwin Mansdorf calls shifting of blame and the exploitation of images “psychological warfare.” This strategy manipulates public opinion and transfers the moral burden from Hamas to Israel. France's recent announcement that it will recognize a Palestinian state at the UN in September – condemned by U.S. Jewish groups as “dishonoring Oct. 7 victims” – demonstrates how Hamas turns outrage into powerful political gains.

Since Oct. 7, Hamas has always had the option to end its people's suffering by surrendering and releasing the hostages, but has consistently refused the option to achieve peace.
